May 11, 2013 — NJD SAF staffed the Spring Stewardship Tour with Rutgers Extension to the Renault Winery’s forest and the Schairer Bros Sawmill near Egg Harbor City, NJ. Past Chair and consultant Bob Williams, Extension Forester Dr. Mark Vodak, and Charlie Newlon led the tour which began with a continental breakfast at the Renault Winery. It is the second oldest winery in the United States.

Our first stop was in the rain and thunder in the 1000-acre pitch shortleaf pine forest north and adjacent to the winery to discuss the plan and management of their forest.

The tour of the sawmill followed.

A highlight was the Atlantic white-cedar shingle manufacturing operation.

Lunch was served back at the winery.

The afternoon was in the Tuckerton Wildlife Management Area to see the results of an Atlantic white-cedar harvest. This property was recently acquired by the State with the purchase of Lenape Farms near May’s Landing, NJ.
